

ANJU'S GRANDMOTHER

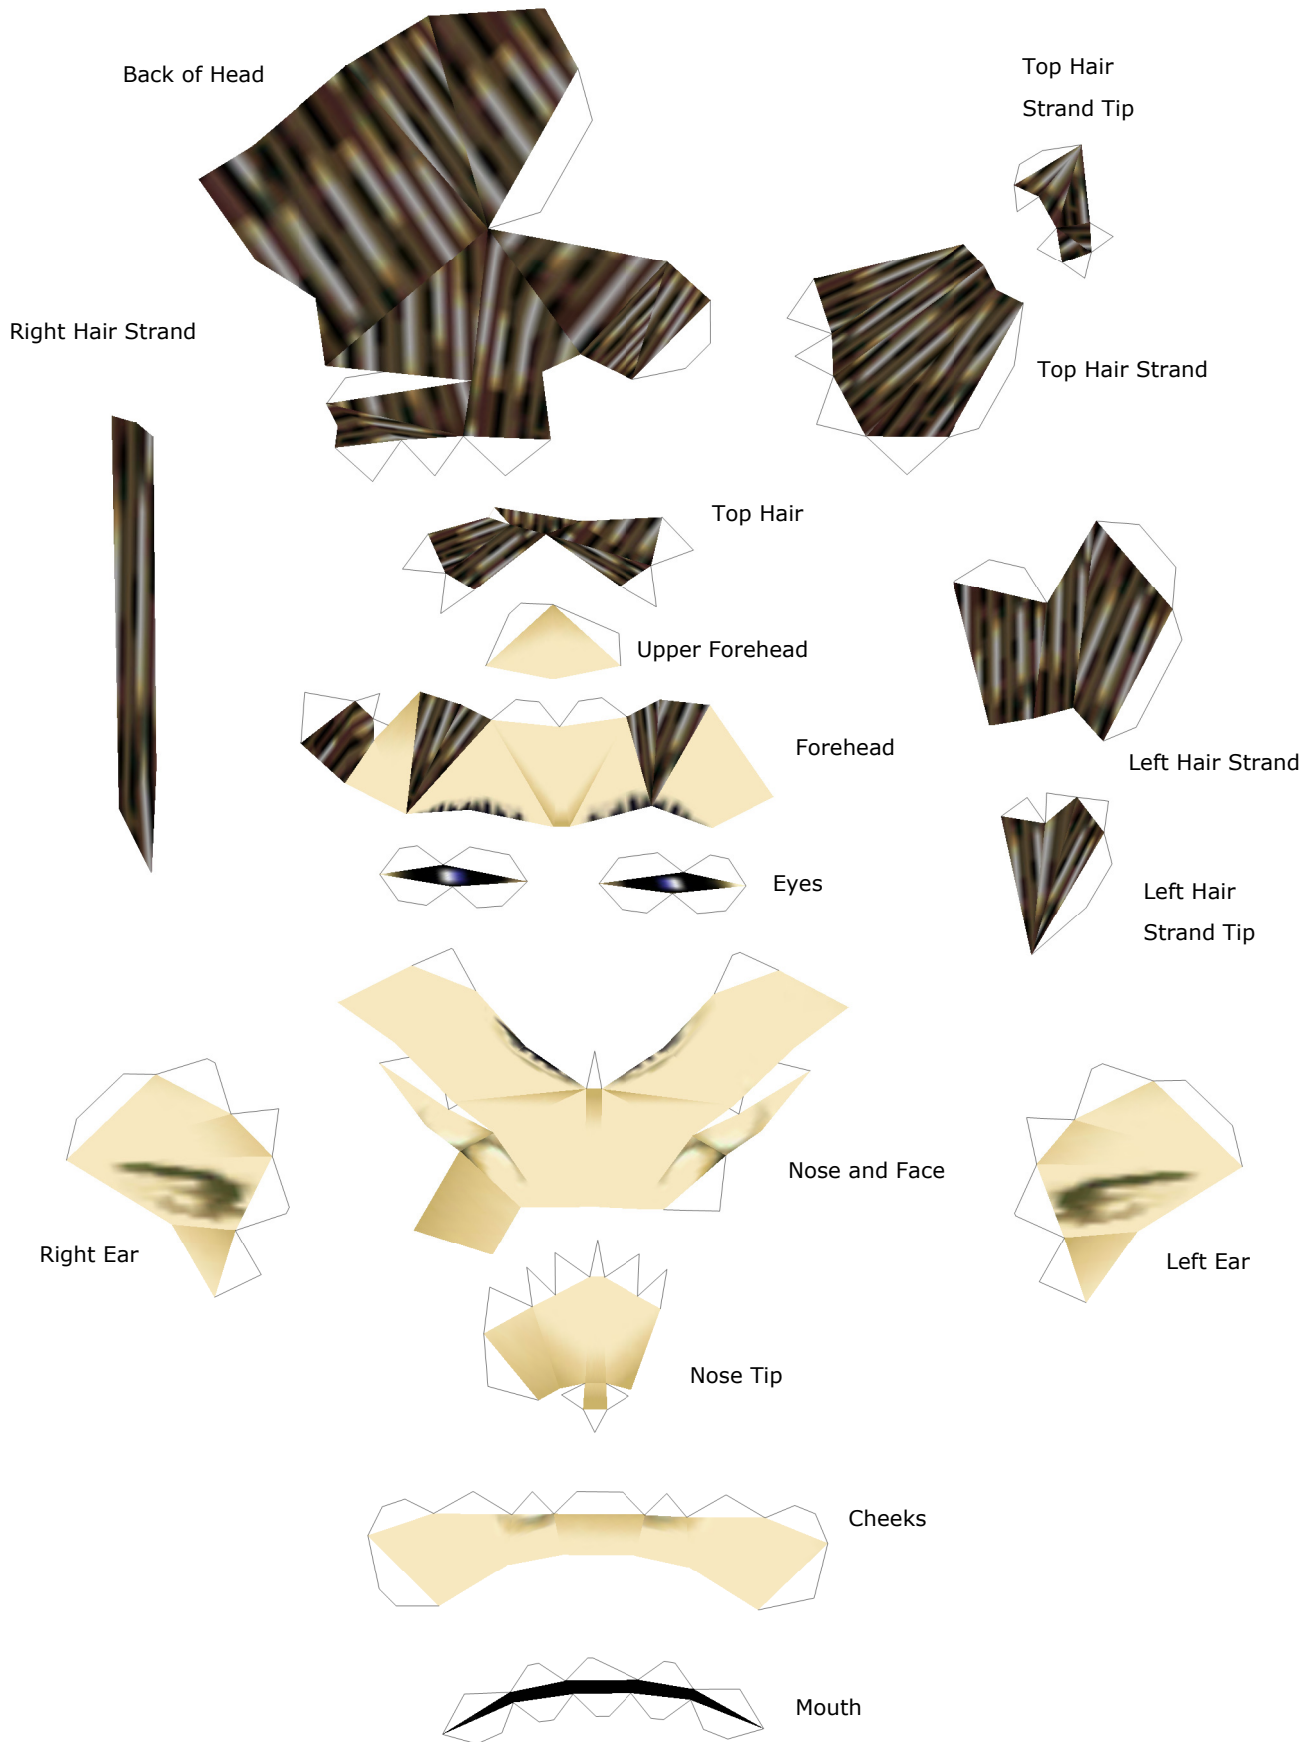

By Xenon

Anju's Grandmother spends her days by the fireplace in the back room of the Stock Pot Inn. She has a poor memory as she mistakes both Link and Anju for her deceased son, Tortus and seems oblivious to the events in Termina. Link can ask her to read him stories which help pass time in the three day system, although he'll fall asleep out of boredom unless he wears the All-Night Mask.

Despite appearing senile, reading her diary suggests she might just be faking it to avoid eating Anju's terrible cooking.
